The Company's actual results could differ materially from those expressed or forecast in any forward-looking statements as a result of a variety of assumptions and factors. These factors include, but are not limited to, the following: (i) failure to comply with laws or regulations, including fraudulent activity, corruption, and bribery; (ii) the outcome of ongoing corruption investigations and any new facts or information that may arise in relation to the "Lava Jato Operation"; (iii) the effectiveness of the Company's risk management policies and procedures, including operational risk; and (iv) litigation, such as class actions or proceedings brought by governmental and regulatory agencies. Cox is an economist and holds a degree in petrochemicals economics from the University of Oxford, UK. He has a successful career as an executive, having been CEO of Telemig Celular and CEO of Claro, among other prominent positions. Cox has extensive experience as a member of the Board of Directors of several companies, such as Tim Brasil, where he is Chairman of the Board, Tim Participações, Embraer, Linx and Braskem.

The three appointed members are expected to replace Luiz Nelson Carvalho, Francisco Petros and Durval José Soledade Santos on Petrobras' Board of Directors. Carvalho and Petros filed a resignation request on January 1, 2019, while the resignation of Soledade was received today and is effective as of February 4, 2019.

Petrobras appreciates the valuable contribution of directors Carvalho, Petros and Soledade for its restructuring. Soledade will continue to collaborate with the company as an external member of the Minority Committee and the Statutory Audit Committee of the Petrobras Conglomerate.

The new composition of the Board of Directors, after approval of the nominations, will maintain the minimum percentage of 40% of independent members, in strict compliance with the Company's By-Laws.

Chairman Roberto Castello Branco commented on the changes: "In the recent past, solid corporate governance has been built and rigorous standards of integrity and compliance have been established, which will be preserved and if necessary reinforced. It was a cycle that ended. A new era begins with a long-term strategic vision and goal of generating value for shareholders and for Brazil. The changes in Petrobras' management reflect the new orientation".
